I support the delivery of Health Education and Improvement Wales' (HEIW) Biodiversity and Decarbonisation Strategy. Implementing our action plan that includes supporting and engaging with staff, working with the community and reducing our carbon footprint. My job helps HEIW make important steps towards its goal of becoming Net Zero by 2030. I enjoy the challenge of finding engaging ways to influence behaviour change in the organisation.

I joined HEIW as one of their first interns, rotating around the organisation to support different projects. As my year long internship was coming to an end, this job opportunity presented itself and I didn't hesitate to apply for it. And here I am today.

The NHS means everything to me. It looked after my dad when he was diagnosed with a brain tumour. It provided support to us as a family with daily visits from community nurses, who gave us the help and rest we needed.
